

Spa, Pool & Wellness

The Himalayan Infinity Pool, the Dotsho hot stone spa, the yoga studio and the fitness centre. Prices in ₹, exclusive of GST.

The Himalayan Infinity Pool

A temperature-controlled outdoor pool on the lower terrace, looking out at the Kanchenjunga range with nothing in the way. It is heated to 30°C year-round, which means it is usable in January and genuinely pleasant in the rain.

Detail	Specification
Hours	6:30 AM – 8:00 PM daily
Temperature	Held at 30°C; the plunge pool in the Pavilion at 34°C
Size and depth	18 m × 4 m, 1.2 m throughout — no deep end
Water treatment	Ozone and low-chlorine; drained and refilled monthly
Towels	Stacked at the pool house, changed through the day
Access	Resident guests only. Day passes are not sold.

Best time to swim

First light, between 6:30 and 8:00 AM, when the range catches colour and the water is steaming. On a clear November morning this is the single best thing on the estate and it is free.

Weather closures

The pool closes during electrical storms, and occasionally in heavy monsoon when visibility on the terrace drops. It does not close for cold or for ordinary rain. Closures are announced on the board at the pool house and by WhatsApp if you ask to be told.

Pool Rules and Safety

There is no lifeguard on duty at any time. The pool is used at your own risk, and this is the one house rule we will not bend.

- Children under 14 must be accompanied by an adult in the water, not merely watching from a lounger.
- No diving anywhere — the pool is a uniform 1.2 m and the edge is stone.
- Please shower before entering. It is a small volume of water.
- No glass on the pool deck. Drinks are served in acrylic; the pool house has a bar phone.
- Swim under the influence of alcohol at your own judgement; the team will suggest otherwise and we would rather you listened.
- Swimwear is required. This is not a naturist property.
- Rescue equipment — a pole and two ring buoys — is on the east wall of the pool house.

Altitude and cold water

Gangtok sits at about 1,650 m. Immersion in water cooler than your body, at altitude, after a long drive and possibly a drink, puts more strain on the heart than the same swim at sea level. Guests with cardiac conditions should talk to their doctor before travelling, not to us.

The plunge pool

The Panorama Pavilion's private plunge pool follows the same rules and is drained between stays. It is 34°C and 1.0 m deep, and children must be accompanied there too.

The Dotsho Hot Stone Bath

The signature treatment, and the reason a number of guests come back. Dotsho is a traditional Sikkimese and Bhutanese healing bath: river stones are heated in a fire for several hours, then lowered into a wooden tub of water infused with artemisia and other herbs foraged on the estate. The stones crack and release minerals into the water as they cool.

Treatment	Duration	Price	Notes
Dotsho, single	90 min	₹6,500	One person, private tub house
Dotsho, couple	90 min	₹11,000	Two tubs, one tub house
Dotsho with massage	150 min	₹10,500	Bath then 60 min massage

How it works, practically

The fire is lit about four hours before your slot, so bookings must be made by 2:00 PM for an evening bath, and the day before for a morning one. You will be given a robe and left alone; an attendant waits outside and adds a fresh stone when you ask. Most people last about forty minutes in the water, not ninety.

Who should not

- Pregnant guests — the water is hot enough to matter.
- Anyone with a cardiac condition, uncontrolled blood pressure, or who has been advised against saunas and hot tubs.
- Children under 16.
- After a heavy meal, or after alcohol.
- In the first 24 hours after arriving from sea level, if you are feeling the altitude at all.

The tub house is a five-minute walk down the garden path and has three steps at the entrance. It is not wheelchair accessible; we are sorry, and the structure is protected.

Massage, Body and Face Menu

Treatments are given in two rooms beside the tub house, or in your own room at no extra charge, which most guests prefer.

Yoga, Fitness and Booking

The yoga studio

A quiet room with a wall of glass facing east, mats, bolsters, blocks and straps. Open 5:30 AM to 9:00 PM for self-practice at no charge. A guided session with our visiting teacher is ₹2,500 for one person or ₹3,800 for two, with 12 hours' notice — hatha, restorative or pranayama, which is the one to take in your first day at altitude.

A complimentary group session runs at 7:00 AM on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays whenever two or more guests sign up at reception the evening before.

Fitness centre

Open 24 hours by room key. Treadmill, cross-trainer, spin bike, a cable station, dumbbells to 30 kg, kettlebells, mats and a foam roller. Water, towels and fruit are stocked. There is no personal trainer on staff; one can be brought in from Gangtok at ₹2,000 an hour with a day's notice.

Ease into cardio for the first 24–48 hours. Resting heart rate runs higher at 1,650 m and dehydration arrives faster than you expect.
